

DATE: March 25, 2014
CONTACT: Mark Shaffer, Media Relations Director, (602) 771-2215 (o);
(480) 433-9551 (cell)

ADEQ to play host to 2014 Annual Emission Inventory Workshop for Phoenix Metro Area on Thursday, April 3

PHOENIX (March 25, 2014) – Arizona Department of Environmental Quality officials announced today that the 2014 Annual Emission Inventory Workshop for the Phoenix metropolitan area will be conducted on Thursday, April 3 from 10 a.m.-5 p.m. at ADEQ’s main headquarters, 1110 W. Washington Street.

The free workshop will have three separate sessions. The first, from 10 a.m. until noon, will focus on using the State and Local Emission Inventory System (SLEIS) that Arizona uses for emission inventory reporting. The second, from 1 p.m.-3 p.m., is targeted for the rock products industry and addresses the most common air quality violations and how to stay in compliance. The third, from 3 p.m. until 5 p.m., is about how to use ADEQ’s Excel files for emission reporting.

If you are interested in attending, please contact Michael Burton of ADEQ at (602) 771-4562 or at burton.michael@azdeq.gov. Free parking is available on the Washington Street entrance to the ADEQ parking garage on the ground level, just to the west of 10th Avenue and Washington Street.

“This workshop is a good collaboration between ADEQ and businesses to protect public health and teach the proper documentation for air quality emissions,” said ADEQ Air Quality Division Director Eric Massey. “We encourage everyone to attend who could benefit from these sessions.”

To receive press releases by email: <http://www.azdeq.gov/subscribe.html>
Follow ADEQ on Facebook: <http://www.facebook.com/azdeq>
Follow ADEQ on Twitter: <http://twitter.com/ArizonaDEQ>